

Habla Mejor Ingles

Posted by Peter on 21 September 2009

Zac Tobias in Madrid has sent me an e-mail to tell me about his web site hablamejoringles.com. It contains articles, and video and audio files, about the English language, aimed at people whose first language is Spanish. If you click the link below you can download a pdf copy of one of his posts, which is all about when we use the simple perfect tense (eg "I went to the shops") and when we use the "have" tense ("I have gone to the shops"). I know that many of you would like me to make a podcast on this subject. One day, when I am feeling really brave, I will try to do this. In the meantime - if you speak Spanish - I am sure that you will find Zac's explanation helpful.

This is the text of the podcast at <http://www.listen-to-english.comindex.php?id=484>.
