

Improved web site

Posted by Peter on 28 August 2010

You will see that I have made some changes to the Listen to English website.

The flash player is now at the top of each posting instead of the bottom. This should make it easier for you to read the text of the podcast while listening to the mp3. The colours of the player are random and change every hour. This will help to keep you awake!

You can download the text of each podcast as a pdf file. Click on the pdf icon at the bottom of the posting. The pdf application is still experimental. If you find problems with it (particularly strange letters appearing in the pdf) please let me know.

Finally, there are some nice new buttons below each posting for sharing the podcast with your friends and sending it to social and bookmarking services.

Happy listening!

Peter

This is the text of the podcast at <http://www.listen-to-english.comindex.php?id=535>,