

Michael Jackson

Posted by Peter on 18 August 2009

Jim Stroud, who works for the website English Cafe, has sent me an e-mail about an English language teaching video that he has recently made. The video is about the death of the pop artist Michael Jackson. You can watch it on the screen below. I like the way that Jim puts text on the screen as he is speaking to explain words and phrases that you might not understand. Jim has produced a number of similar videos, and you can find them on YouTube. Indeed, the whole English Cafe site is worth exploring.

This is the text of the podcast at <http://www.listen-to-english.com/index.php?id=478>,